SALT LAKE DAILY HERALD, TUESDAY, APRIL 29, 1881.

with the Treasurer, rather than with a private banker; yet it was not in the treasury as the law in-He had felt somewhat humiliated when the gentleman from Illinois (Cannon) had brought to his notice the fact in the appendix of the Secretary's statement, that there was a statement that the money had been deposited with the Treasurer. He had gone to every officer of the treasury, who had accounts of money covered into the treasury, and they had told him it treasury, and they had told him it had not been covered in. He had not gone to the Treasurer, for the reason that that officer did not keep such accounts. If he was at fants such accounts. If he was at fault that he had not gone to the Treasurer, it was because the Treasurer was not the per-on to go to. A few days ago $20,000 had been directed to be covered into the treasury, but the Secretary of the reasury wrote him on Saturday last that it had not yet been done, so that up to the present moment not one dollar has wears.—Philadelphia Call. markeman it is something of a wonbeen cove ed in- He charged that the law had not been complied with. He imputed no intention on the when he is troing to run on a repart of the Secretary to do any dis-honest or dishonorable thing. So far as he had observed the adminis-tration of the Secretary of the Navy had been most creditable. The whole tone of the service had been raised, but the issue was whether a great officer of the government had obeyed the clear command of the law. He asserted that the Scretary had Rot.

Calkins defended the Secretary's action, and argued that the provisions of the law had not been violated, that the law required that the net proceeds of sales should be plug hat.-[Puck. covered into the Treasury, but net Care will killa co all expenditures had been paid for, and this had not yet been done, his deliberate judgement was that every candid man would say that Hewitt's performance this morning was a mere subterfuge. If he did not make a direct charge, common decency and common honesty ought to induce him to keep his mouth

Hewitt declined to reply to Calk-ins's personal remark-. He made no imputation either by Ladirection or subterfuge, or by any blow of the assassin, against the Secretary of the Nary. Washington, 28 .- The sub committee of the House committee on postoffices and post roads, having under consideration the postal telegraph, met to-day to consider the the hired girl, especially in the bill providing for the contract system, the Smate bill on that subject being taken as a basis. A lengthy discussion took place respecting the maximum uniform limit at which with the old autocrat the contract should be made. Some members contended that the uniform rate should be fixed at 20 cents for twenty words; others said 20 cents was too low to induce competent corporations to compete for the me!
